Standard response to a delivery partner you are approaching for the first time

Dear [name],

I am [name], and volunteer at StreetDoctors [place] as an emergency first aid skills trainer for young people affected by violence, while I am studying [medicine/paramedicine/nursing] at [university/college]. I would like to introduce you to StreetDoctors and its work in [place] with a view to working in partnership with you.

StreetDoctors is a national charity that puts young people at the centre of emergency first-aid provision and empowers them to become part of the solution to violence. At StreetDoctors we believe knowledge is power, so we empower young people at risk with the skills to become part of the solution to violence, rather than just being seen as 'part of the problem'. We equip young people affected by violence with the emergency first aid skills to save lives, and the knowledge to make informed decisions about keeping themselves and others safe. Our training is delivered by our movement of young healthcare volunteers (nurses, paramedics and doctors) who work in partnership with criminal justice services, schools, pupil referral units, youth, sports and community groups. All our work is trauma informed.

You can find out more about the content, impact and delivery methods of the three sessions in our Reducing Violence Programme here, and about the pricing structure for them here.

Please let me know if you would like to know more about StreetDoctors' work in [place] and when would be a good time for me to call you – I am usually free during the late afternoon or early evening once my study and hospital placement commitments are over. Alternatively, please contact Sarah Bloxham, Partnerships Manager at StreetDoctors head office, at sarah@streetdoctors.org to discuss your training needs and make a delivery plan.

Yours sincerely, [name]
